

Troy Cox

Chief Executive Officer, Foundation Medicine

Troy Cox joined Foundation Medicine in February 2017 as its Chief Executive Officer. Troy is driven by improving the lives of patients. He brings nearly 30 years of proven performance in global, strategic, and operational BioPharmaceutical leadership and expertise to Foundation Medicine. Prior to joining Foundation Medicine, Troy served as Senior Vice President and Officer at Genentech, where he led US BioOncology, the #1 Oncology business fueled by over 1,500 people passionately delivering for patients.

Troy joined Genentech in February 2010. Prior to taking BioOncology leadership in 2013, he led diverse in-market specialty and primary care franchises as well as US market preparation for 6 new medicines. Before coming to Genentech, Troy held global P&L business unit responsibility within UCB BioPharma, with responsibility for developing and commercializing medicines that serve patients across diverse specialty therapy areas.

Prior to UCB, Troy led a large US Primary Care Business Unit for Sanofi-Aventis. He also led Global Marketing and Medical for Anti-Infectives at Aventis. Troy's diverse experience includes senior roles in European Country General Management, US Managed Care Sales Leadership, and US Claritin Marketing with Schering-Plough. His pharmaceutical career began as a Sales Representative after earning his MBA at the University of Missouri. He also received a BBA in Finance from the University of Kentucky.
