

Don Mathis
GM, Growth
Comcast NBCUniversal

Don Mathis leads Comcast's Strategic Development / Growth organization. His team's focus includes establishing, acquiring and/or investing in new ventures that broaden the company's offerings, access new & emerging markets, capitalize on disruptive technologies, and facilitate enterprise transformation. Don is also an Entrepreneur-in-Residence at Harvard Business School and Harvard University's Innovation Labs.

Don's background is a blend of entrepreneurial, operational, investment and portfolio management. He has held CEO and COO positions in three successful early- and mid-stage high-growth technology companies, and has private equity experience with Periscope Equity and JPMorgan (Chase) Capital Partners, as well as strategy consulting experience with McKinsey. Don also serves on a number of private and public boards.

Don is a Commander in the US Navy with both active and reserve tours of duty. He received his MBA from Harvard Business School where he is an Arthur Rock 100 Entrepreneur, and he received his BA from Vassar College in Asian Studies.