Umesh Thota started AuthBase two years ago with over 10 years of experience in building technology and Products.

With a team of collective strength of 50 years in technology and business today he has suite of products specially focused from your SDLC to deployment from Vulnerability Management to Threat Mitigation we realized there is a strategic change required in how cyber-attacks and threats are fought just as the worms are becoming intelligent the defences we present need to be intelligent as well.