

Alan Adler

Alan Adler was born in New York City. He lived for over 25 in Europe – London, Copenhagen and Amsterdam. He and his family made aliyah over 20 years ago and live in Yemin Moshe, Jerusalem.

Alan was Chairman of the Board and CEO of Israeli-based Oridion Systems Ltd, a global leader in patient monitoring systems, from 2004 until the company was acquired by a major American healthcare conglomerate, Covidien, in June of 2012. Prior to that, he had over 30 years of experience as a consultant and partner at McKinsey & Company and, afterwards, as a partner at Evergreen, the Israeli venture capital group. He has served as a director on the Boards of numerous technology and life science companies and currently also serves as a director on the Boards of the Pardes Institute of Jewish Studies and Shalem College. Alan holds a B.Sc. in Mathematics from Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute and an MBA with honors from Stanford University.