Dan Vesely

Dan Vesely is Co-Founder and Active Charman at CliniCrowd and is the motivation behind its establishment, after being diagnosed with Parkinson's Disease (PD) in 2013.

CliniCrowd is a global community for patients and those at-risk to share experiences, treatments and insights.

Today, Clinicrowd is steadfast spreading its mission globally through harnessing the Power & Diversity of the Global Crowd, for faster & cost effective crowd trials. The ever evolving and growing community tests the efficiency and provides real-life evidence for scientifically-based foods to stop or improve disease progression and help people at risk for diseases re prevention.

In addition to his role at Clinicrowd, Dan is also active partner at Sdema Group, a homeland security services and solutions company.

Prior to his current positions, Dan served in the Israel Security Agency for over 30 years and through a wide range of field, operational and management positions.

Amongst the varied roles, Dan served as Director of the Agency's HR
Department and retired from that position in 2010 with a rank of Major General.

Dan also served as the Director of Security at Israel's US Embassy in Washington DC, and coordinated with US Federal security agencies throughout the Wye Plantation and Camp David peace processes.

Dan holds a Master's Degree in Political Science from the Haifa University and a Bachelor of Arts Degree in History and Philosophy from Tel Aviv University.
