

Benny Dilmoney

CEO, Magneto Thrombectomy Solutions

Benny Dilmoney brings more than 20 years of executive management experience in startup's companies, technology transfer and licensing from universities, project management, R&D and operations, clinical studies and other managerial experiences in the Medical Devices Field.

Prior to Joining Magneto, Benny was the Director of R&D Leveraging & Collaborations in Biosense Webster (Part of the J&J family of companies), in this role Benny led the business development activities in the company including acquisition, collaboration with strategic partners/universities/customers and leading successfully new initiative in the big data area.