

Prof. Naama Sabar-Ben Yehoshua is a renowned educator and Professor Emerita at Tel Aviv University. Born in 1938 in Tel Aviv, she has extensively contributed to the fields of Jewish education and qualitative research methodologies. Over her illustrious career, she has published over 100 scholarly articles and 10 books. Her work has been influential in integrating qualitative research into educational studies, particularly within the context of Israeli and Jewish education. Prof. Sabar-Ben Yehoshua has also been recognized with numerous awards for her contributions to education and research.