

Company name SOLVEAT * Website <https://www.solveat-health.com/> *

CEO name Udi Peretz

* CATEGORY: Biotech/Pharma

SESSIONS • “NUTRItech” is the name of the game o

Executive Summary / Investment Rational SOLVEAT, a Trendlines portfolio company, was founded by a multidisciplinary team of professionals to revolutionize the blooming functional food market by integrating herbal health-promoting ingredients into everyday foods. The company has already developed its first ingredient which is designed to maintain healthy blood sugar levels in prediabetics. This and additional pipeline products are in commercialization stages with key industry players.

o Core Technology SOLVEAT is utilizing a unique technological platform for the delicious integration of active herbal compositions into ordinary foods. SOLVEAT applies the highest scientific, clinical, and quality standards to provide A to Z product development capabilities. These include active compositions discovery using pharmacological screening, optimal extraction methods, full analytical characterization of bioactives, proprietary food delivery technology using microencapsulation and clinical validation. o Product Profile/Pipeline SOLVEAT is targeting high-impact health conditions. First product, SOLV-S-Balance, for the support of healthy blood sugar levels is fully developed and scaled-up. Pending a clinical trial, regulation, and pilot sales in Israel. To be further developed to US and global markets. Second product for immune boost is under development. Additional products are negotiated with key industry players (undisclosed information).

o Business Strategy SOLVEAT intends to introduce the first developed product by entering a small-scale commercialization process (pilot sales / product-market fit) with a longer-term intention of partnering with key industry players for all pipeline products via a B2B business model, a main strategic approach of the company. o What's Next? SOLVEAT is approaching its next funding round to support full clinical and regulatory development for the US and global markets. This key milestone will drive the company for further growth and the commercialization of additional products which are designed to improve the human condition globally.