

Ravit Darshan, PhD, is an experienced biotechnology R&D manager with extensive multidisciplinary knowledge and over 15 years of experience in the pharmaceutical and agritech industries. She has a proven track record of leading and managing innovative research and development projects in startup environments, primarily focused on preclinical and clinical research, with a strong emphasis on cross-disciplinary collaboration.

Previously, she held leadership roles at Mybiotics-Pharma and Nobactra startups , where she managed product development, research, and strategic collaborations.