

Moran Shapira Ben David Bio

Moran Shapira is an accomplished pharma business development executive with over twenty years of industry experience. In her previous roles, Moran managed strategic partnerships and mergers-and-acquisitions deals for global pharmaceutical companies (Takeda, Novartis). In her current role, she serves as Chief Business Development Officer at VLX Ventures, leading end-to-end investment processes for startup companies and serving as a board member and mentor for biotech startups. Moran is also regularly consulting global companies on high-impact strategic initiatives in the biotech and healthcare segments.

Moran holds an MBA in healthcare management from Boston University, a B.Sc. in Biology from Tel Aviv University, and LL.B in Law and Finance from Reichman University.