

Short Bio:

David Lazerson, the co-founder and CEO of Briya, has deep expertise in cybersecurity and enterprise infrastructures with over a decade of experience managing cyber, R&D and data analysis teams. He is the former CEO of Axioma, a cyber security consulting and incident response firm. He previously worked as an engagement manager at Sygnia, a leading cyber consulting and incident response company (acquired by Temasek). Prior to that, during his military service, he served as a special cyber operations officer at the 8200 intelligence unit.