

Ofri Vaisman

Chief Operating Officer and General Manager Bluewind Medical

Ofri Vaisman is the COO and GM of Bluewind Medical, developer of an innovative implantable neuromodulation device for treatment of Overactive Bladder. In her role as an executive member of the Bluewind leadership team, Ofri has overall responsibility for all R&D, Quality, Manufacturing and Supply Chain activities. During her tenure at Bluewind, Ofri has led the team through successful product development, CE mark and IDE approval as well as Pivotal study operations. Today Ofri and her team are focused on the upcoming FDA submission as well as the production ramp up and establishment of the operational infrastructure towards the launch.

In her previous roles Ofri held leadership positions in various medical device companies including Aspect Imaging where she led the neonatal imaging program and Galil Medical a cryoablation company that is today part of Boston Scientific. In her early career days Ofri held a product marketing role at Biosense Webster in California and a business consulting role at Ernst and Young.

Ofri is passionate about leading teams that develop and market quality medical device products that improve the lives of patients.