

Ronen Segal

Chief Technology Officer

Alpha TAU Medical

Ronen Segal has more than 20 years of top leadership and executive roles in various fields. He has a multi-disciplinary technological and managerial background. He served in a variety of senior managerial and development positions, including CTO, Deputy CEO & Head of BD of Brainsway, a publicly traded neuroscience company, bringing its technology from the bench to the market with 3 FDA approvals and more than 100,000 patients treated. He also founded and served as the Chairman of the BSMT – the Israeli Brain consortium. Previously, he co-founded WiTech communications, which was acquired by Kodak. Before that, Mr. Segal headed several large-scale technological projects at MAFAT (Ministry of Defense R&D division) and the Navy Submarines R&D Unit.