

Daniel Weiss, MD, BSEE, has been a practicing cardiac electrophysiologist for many years and has been a consultant to Fortune 500 companies such as Medtronic, St Jude Medical, and Philips Medical Imaging Systems. Daniel has a degree in Electrical Engineering and Computer Science from Princeton University and a medical degree from the Mt. Sinai School of Medicine in New York. He has published numerous scientific papers and lectured internationally.