

Orr is a healthcare entrepreneur, and applied AI-researcher, with a passion for fixing broken processes within healthcare by leveraging next-gen technologies.

Prior to QuantHealth, Orr co-founded ConcertAI, a Boston-based unicorn specializing in real-world data and precision oncology. Before that, he led a machine learning team at Decision Resources Group, and was a data scientist specializing in life-science strategy at Signals Analytics. Orr holds a masters in Information Technology from Harvard University, and a B.Sc in Biochemistry from the University of UMASS Amherst.