

Gus Costello

Mr. Costello brings 35 years of experience with proven accomplishments in product development and operations leadership with multi-national medical device companies such as Intuitive Surgical and Covidien (Now MTD) having responsibility for introducing a multitude of disruptive technologies in the fields of conventional and robotic-assisted laparoscopy. Currently he is Principal Consultant at Cognos-Lux Consulting, LLC, a product development and operations medical device consulting practice. Previously, Mr. Costello served as senior vice president of product operations at Intuitive Surgical,

General Manager for Covidien's Caribbean medical device plants, amongst others. Mr. Costello holds a degree in Mechanical Engineering from California State Long Beach.