

Shlomo Nimrodi
CEO, Ramot at Tel Aviv University Ltd.

Mr. Shlomo Nimrodi brings with him more than 20 years track record leading technology companies, in wide range of industries, locally and internationally, turning them into profitable businesses, creating expanded markets for technological innovations.

Among the companies Shlomo has led are: Epana Networks – a $200+ million revenue communications and financial services company; Raytel Cardiac Services - a leading company in the field of remote monitoring of cardiac services that was sold to Philips; Nexus Data - a leading company in the AMR field that was sold to Sensus Metering Systems; Vizrt – a publicly traded world leading company in broadcast graphics, and Indigo, as the CFO and COO, the market leader in digital printing technology that was sold to HP in early 2000.

Mr. Nimrodi graduated with an MA and MBA with Honors in 1983 from the Hebrew University of Jerusalem and completed the Advanced Management Program (AMP156) in 1999 at Harvard Business School.