

Abstract:

The benefits and dangers of screening an aging population for an ever growing list of medical conditions has become a topic of significant discussion. Zebra Medical Vision presents an opportunity to assist patients and caregivers in understanding the clinical risk of patient populations, without the need for unnecessary tests and costs to the healthcare system. Using machine and deep learning to analyze medical imaging data, the company provides healthcare institutions with valuable data that allows them to accurately target high risk patients and manage interventions only when needed, improving overall patient care at lower costs.
